

AWAIT REPORT
FROM MOSCOW
ON CONFERENCEAnticipation of Further Talks Gives a Ray of Hope for SuccessWILL BE THE LAST Marshall Evades or Rejects All Questions On The Situation

By John A. Reichmann
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (INS)— Top policy officials were alerted today for a report from Moscow on the conference of Western Powers envoys with Premier Stalin.

The fact that Moscow reported further talks were anticipated following last night's Kremlin meeting of almost five hours gave a ray of hope to an otherwise gloomy situation.

Prior to yesterday's meeting it had been anticipated that this conference would be the last. It was expected to spell a new era of accord between the Western Powers and the Soviet Union, or a definite breach.

This possibility was emphasized by the fact that State Department information services remained on duty far into the night in the belief that a break in the tortuous negotiations might come.

Secretary of State Marshall and his top aides also stood by at home or in their offices in the State Department Building waiting word from United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith.

However, when word came through that a further meeting was anticipated the watch was called off. A general feeling of optimism replaced the earlier skepticism which surrounded all talk of the prolonged crisis over Berlin and all Germany.

Delay in concluding the Moscow talks has been an enigma to those trying to follow the situation from this capital. Marshall himself has evaded or rejected all questions bearing on the situation. His lieutenants have been enjoined against discussing it.

As a consequence observers have been unable to deduce what is happening in Moscow by the actions of officials.

These have stood by each weekend while the delicate negotiations were going on. Each has not stirred from his home at night without leaving word where he can be reached.

Dr. Edward Pershing
Found To Be Unharmful

Dr. Edward Pershing, 84, New Hope, Bucks county, was found un-harmful Saturday, by three physicians after having been lost for 15 hours in the Western Carolina mountains.

The aged physician got lost late Friday afternoon near Linville, N. C., while on a hike with his niece, Mrs. Gordon Hartshorn, of New Hope and her daughter, Betsy.

A. T. Garland, sheriff of Avery county, said when the two others started to Linville, they were unable to find Dr. Pershing. Law enforcement officials, relatives and citizens searched throughout the night.

Shortly after dawn, the young campers found Dr. Pershing in a laurel thicket near Flat Rock about three miles from Linville, where the physicians was vacationing.

Spy for his age, Dr. Pershing, cousin of the late Gen. John J.
Pershing, said a lack of water was the only thing that troubled him.

8,000-MILE TRIP ENDS
AT MORRISVILLEMr. and Mrs. J. D. Coleman
And Two Children
Arrive in "Jeep"

FROM HOME IN SAIPAN

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 24.—An 8,000-mile trip ended here Sunday, when Captain and Mrs. John D.
Coleman and their two children arrived home from Saipan, in the Marianas Island.

The last leg of the journey—from San Francisco to Morrisville—was made by jeep. And if you think bouncing 3,000 miles across country in a jeep isn't hard on the anatomy, just try it some time.

Mrs. Coleman is the former Dorothy Hibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin M. Hibbs, of 201 West Maple avenue, Morrisville.
She left the cross-river borough with four-year-old Penny, eighteen months ago to join Captain Coleman on Saipan. A second daughter, Terry, now one and a half years old, was born two months after she arrived at the South Pacific army base.

Although the Colemans are enthusiastic about the climate and living conditions on Saipan, they were all glad when Captain Coleman's two-year overseas hitch was completed and they were given an opportunity to return to the states.

The family of four left Saipan by plane late in June, flying to Guam. There they boarded a steamer, which took them by way of Okinawa to San Francisco. They arrived on the west coast July 14.

A SHAMEFUL START

"Public officers are the servants and agents of the people, to execute the laws which the people have made." These words were spoken by Grover Cleveland, twice Democratic President of the United States, when he was accepting the nomination for Governor in 1882.

They express a high standard of government more familiarly stated in the lines: "Public office is a public trust." This last quotation is also often credited to Grover Cleveland, although there is no record that he ever put it precisely that way.

Much has happened to the country and to the Democratic Party since Cleveland's time.

Recent New Deal officials no longer have made even a pretense that they are called upon to administer public office for the public weal. It's their own weal, and their own hold on their jobs, that interest them. Politics has replaced law as their guiding star.

And the public has become hardened to this by long familiarity.

Thereupon, it caused no special comment when the new Secretary of Labor entered office a few days ago under circumstances which should cause a shiver of horror among those who take seriously the idealism expressed by Cleveland.

As a preliminary to moving into the new job given him by President Truman, Secretary Maurice J. Tobin had first of all to take his oath of office. That oath binds him, upon his honor, to uphold the Constitution and the laws enacted under it.

But almost before the echoes of that oath had died away, Secretary Tobin had launched into a violent, partisan and unwarranted attack upon one of the very laws he had just sworn to administer.

The law under fire is, of course, the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.
Secretary Tobin would never have been appointed by President Truman if he hadn't been "against" that statute.

As a matter of fact, it is probably not too much to say that he never would have been appointed to the job if it hadn't been understood between him and the President in advance that he would devote his principal energies to criticizing that law, ridiculing it, trying to convince the rank and file of union members that it is a "slave labor" law, and seeking by every means to undermine and evade its provisions.

HULMEVILLE, Aug. 24—Dr. and Mrs. J. Theron Illick, of Syracuse, N. Y., will sail on Saturday, Aug. 28th, for China, where they will spend a year in Christian missionary endeavor.

Dr. Illick, a former resident of Hulmeville, spent 20 years in China, he being engaged for the greater portion of that time as an instructor in the University of Nanking. He is the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Hiram J. Illick, the Rev. Illick being pastor at one time of the Neshaminy Methodist Church here.

The couple will sail from San Francisco, Cal., on the "General Gordon" for the Orient. They left Syracuse on the 25th of August for Salem, Oregon, where they have been paying a visit to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Illick. Another son, Roland Illick, is residing at Middleburg, Vt., and a daughter, Miss Elisabeth Illick, who completed her college course last spring, resides at Syracuse.

Dr. Illick has been a member of the staff of Syracuse University for the past several years, he being instructor in biology.

Recently scholars of Neshaminy Methodist Sunday School sent a gift of $100 to Wuhu Methodist Hospital in China, as a tribute to the long service of Dr. Illick in China. The sum was the result of "penny collections" from scholars throughout the year.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Bickley Burns Brodhead Pastor of Bensalem Methodist Church

Almighty God, whose love touches all lives as the sun's glow filleth the skies, fill us with a sense of the beauty that is in Thy world. From the hills we would gather courage; from the mighty ocean we would sense the wideness of Thy mercy; from the starry heaven grant us the beauty of things that are eternal; from the smallest flower that grows help us to understand that Thou seekest beauty in all things. Especially we would seek to reveal more of the beauty of holiness in our own lives. Let the beauty of Jesus shine through us, this day and evermore, Amen.
